

Tuskegee And Wilberforce Will Play Game Here

Read The Whip
YOUR Newspaper

"A PAPER WITH A POLICY"

The Chicago Whip

AN INDEPENDENT WEEKLY

5 CENTS
IN CHICAGO
10 CENTS ELSEWHERE

VOLUME XIV-NO. 41

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1931

TWELVE PAGES

CLAIM POWERS RESTAURANT CO. USED FAKE INJUNCTION TO REMOVE PICKETS

PICKET GROUP PLANS TO FIGHT WRIT AND CONTINUE CAMPAIGN

Members of the Negro Employees Improvement Association, the group which established a picket on the 47th street Powers restaurant in their fight to secure jobs as counter men, cooks and cashiers in this and other restaurants of the community claim this week that the Powers Restaurant company used a fake injunction to remove the pickets, and then hood-winked the police into enforcing the fake writ.

In support of these charges, Galvin Sanders, president of the association, and leader of the picket movement, points out that although the picket was removed through the aid of the police, the supposed court writ on Tuesday, September 29, was not signed by a court official and did not bear the official stamp or a docket number. In further support of this charge, that the Powers restaurant representatives resorted to a slick trick to remove the picket, Sanders points out that on the next day, Sept. 30 another copy of an injunction was served which did bear the signature of a court officer, official stamp, and a docket number. This second and real injunction was dated Sept. 30, a day after the fake writ had been served and enforced by the police involving the arrest of one of the pickets.

O.K.'s Change

DR. P. R. MOTON

Seek To Dissolve Writ
The officials of the Negro Employees Improvement Association retained Atty. Arthur W. Mitchell to represent them in their fight to have the injunction dissolved. Atty. Mitchell has made his appearance in court, and will argue the injunction before Judge Lindsey of the Superior court, who granted the true injunction to Powers. The injunction was granted by Judge Lindsey after hearing only one side of the case.

Following the conference between coaches and athletic representatives this week, Dr. R. R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee, gave his consent to bring the Tuskegee-Wilberforce grid classic back here.

Receiver Says Only $1,200 Cash At Roosevelt Bank; No Hope Of Dividends

The 25,000 or more depositors whose savings were tied up in the closing of the Roosevelt-Bankers State bank, most of whom are residents of the south side have but small hope of even a very small return on the deposit in the form of dividends, judge from the report of the receiver, which was made public last week. The total resources of the bank, according to the report, total only $920,842.75 while the balance due to the depositors and other creditors, if the bank were placed at $1,169,791.49. Of the total assets of the bank, the receiver has been able to realize only $1,200 in cash for the depositors during the fourteen months since the bank was closed. While only slightly more than a thousand dollars is available for the depositors, it is significant that the process of liquidating the bank, the receiver has deducted $20,000 for receiver's fees, $11,000 for legal fees and $22,287.25 for clerk and stenographer compensation. Another item of expense which has not been fully outlined in the published report is one of $30,995.79 for "miscellaneous expenses." Thus the total expenses for liquidating the bank amount to $68,282.03, in order to retrieve a total of $1,200 for the depositors.

STEALS $3,000 FUND FOR NEGRO FLOOD RELIEF

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Morah S. Deusing, white, former postmistress at Ravenwood, La., was arrested here Wednesday on a warrant charging her with having embezzled $3,000 during her term of office. Police have been searching for her through Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee, discovering her working as a cashier in her brother's "drive-yourself automobile office."

Mrs. Deusing's brother, H. H. Spiller, acted as her spokesman and explained that she was the only white person in or near Ravenwood during the 1927 flood and that she had used some of the money to feed the hungry and distressed Negroes there. The balance was supposed to have been burnt in a fire which destroyed her home last year. Police explained that she was the only white person in or near Ravenwood during the 1927 flood and that she had used some of the money to feed the hungry and distressed Negroes there. The balance was supposed to have been burnt in a fire which destroyed her home last year. Police explained that she was the only white person in or near Ravenwood during the 1927 flood and that she had used some of the money to feed the hungry and distressed Negroes there. The balance was supposed to have been burnt in a fire which destroyed her home last year.

Open 100 Graves Seeking Lost Corpse

1 KILLED; 4 HURT, AS 200 REDS BATTLE THE POLICE IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 7.—Special—Three colored men and a white police lieutenant were seriously wounded here late Tuesday night as a police squad battled with a crowd of colored Communists, estimated at 200. The fighting was precipitated when the police slugged several of the crowd who were carrying torches into the home of an exiled tenant.

Earlier in the evening a crowd had gathered near the scene of the eviction. Communist leaders addressed them, urging them to replace the furniture in the home from which it had been removed.

When police arrived the furniture was being carried back to the home. When police struck members of the gathering a general fight started.

Several blocks away the body of a colored man was found, but through the head. He is believed to have been struck by a stray bullet.

TEAMS WILL KICK-OFF AT MILLSPARK

By GEORGE SYDNEY

After much dickering on the part of the directors of athletics of Tuskegee Institute and Wilberforce university, at the latter institution over the week-end, a last-minute decision was reached at 4:17 Monday afternoon when two public-spirited Chicagoans, lending their assistance to the cause, mapped out ways and means to stage the annual "Tuskegee-Wilberforce" gridiron classic here on October 24 as was prearranged. The heralding of its cancellation last Wednesday, Sept. 30, doesn't hold good—the football game positively will be held here, the scene of battle being the Mills Stadium at Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue.

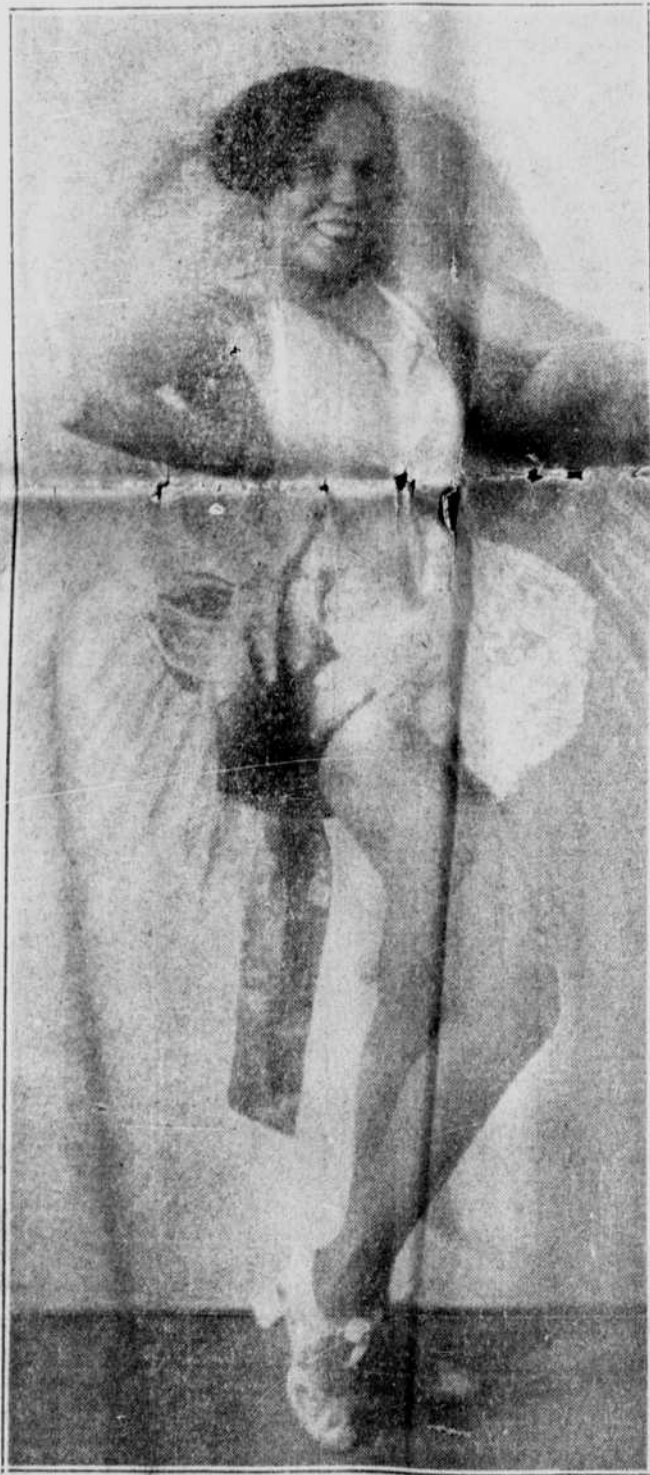

Through the efforts of Mr. Clifford O. Sparks, owners of the Chicago American Giants garage and King Cole, of the Metropolitan Funeral system, the site was secured for playing of the game after plans to play at Soldiers Field had fallen through. Much credit is due these men for their initiative and interest in bringing the midwest classic to Chicago again.

Sox Park Denied

What came as a distinct shock to the athletic councils of both schools and to the football-loving public was the announcement eight days ago that the Tuskegee-Wilberforce date was dropped from the Soldier Field list in favor of Hastings colliery.

(Continued on page 9)

Gets Chance On 'Big Time'

Substitutions in the cast of Lew Leslie's "Rhapsody in Black" before it goes on the road have made a place for Grayce Miller, dainty Chicago night club entertainer, who is reported to be on her way to join the show.

GIRL GETS $3,000 FOR INJURIES IN TAXI CAB CRASH

Miss Martha Matthews, 5004 Michigan avenue, was awarded judgment of $3,000 by Judge E. I. Frankhausen of the Superior court last week in a suit for damages against the Year Motor Car company for injuries sustained in an accident while she was a passenger in the cab on June 17th of 1929. While Miss Matthews and three friends were proceeding across South Park way in the cab, it was struck by the speeding car of Mrs. B. S. O'Connor, white, which was going south on South Park way. The cab was turned over by the impact, and the passengers thrown to the ground. Miss Matthews was seriously injured, and remained in the hospital for several weeks. Miss Matthews was represented in the suit by Atty. Blain G. Alston.

(Continued on page 9)

'PUT MAN ON SPOT' IN HARLEM DANCE HALL; JEALOUSY IS CAUSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Steered to a certain position on the crowded floor of the Renaissance Casino Sunday night, Wesley Carter, 27, was shot three times by an assailant who made his escape through a handy door. Carter was shot in the left side, stomach, and leg.

Police believe that Carter was deliberately "put on the spot" by friends of the gunman. Trouble over the affections of a woman is believed to be at the bottom of the sensational attack. Carter, seriously wounded, refused to say who had shot him.

S. C. WHITE SHOOT 6 IN FIT OF RAGE

GREENSBORO, S. C., Oct. 7.—Enraged because one of his colored tenants dared to talk back to him, Beards Hughes, 40-year-old white man, rushed home, secured his shot gun and calmly fired into a group of colored persons, wounding six.

These wounded by Hughes are Will Jones, 65, and his children Odus, 19, Eldred, 15, Clara, 12, Isable, 4, and the baby, Annie. All of the Jones were seriously wounded.

One of the victims was a baby, and two others, young girls. The baby, 14 months old, will probably die.

Shortly after the attack Hughes was arrested and jailed on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He told officers that he was getting a drink from a spring on his own farm and Odus threatened him, telling him not to drink out of the spring.

Returns Home

Dr. W. H. Hunt, Spingarn medalist for 1930, who has been abroad for several months is returning this week, laden with educational honors received in Denmark.

WIDOW SUES BURR OAK AND W. T. BROWN FOR $100,000 IN DAMAGES

Following a frantic but futile search for the remains of Henry Ganaway, her late husband, in which nearly a hundred graves in the Burr Oak Cemetery were opened in vain, Mrs. Ada Ganaway of 4643 Indiana avenue has filed suit for $100,000 in damages against the cemetery corporation and W. T. Brown, the undertaker who had charge of the burial.

MURDERS MAN WITH BILLIARD CUE OVER GAME

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 7.—A heated quarrel over a billiard game ended in murder in a billiard parlor here last week when an unidentified man beat to death George Jones, 23 years old, with the heavy end of a billiard cue. The two men came into the hall and began a game of billiards for money. Apparently the both had been drinking, and became involved in a quarrel over the game. Twice the proprietor was forced to quiet them under threat of putting them out of the place. The unknown man won the last game, and the quarrel was resumed. Before any one could stop him, the unknown man began to beat Jones on the head with his cue.

In her declaration, Mrs. Ganaway seeks damages for the reason that she has suffered great mental anguish and physical disabilities because of loss of the body of her deceased husband, Henry Ganaway, who was supposed to have been buried in Burr Oak Cemetery shortly after his death in May 1929, and in addition has been deprived of the sacred right of decorating her husband's grave. When pressed by the widow, the officials of the cemetery are said to have dug up more than seventy-five bodies in a frantic effort to locate Ganaway's body.

Widow Demands Search

According to reports, Mrs. Ganaway left the city for about six months immediately after the alleged burial. Upon her arrival back into the city, she went to visit her husband's grave. At the entrance of the cemetery, Mrs. Ganaway met a Mr. Folsom, white superintendent of the plot, who directed her to Grave 1, lot 119 as that of her husband. But upon arriving there, Mrs. Ganaway is said to have differed with Mr. Folsom, because she said she remembered walking up a slope nearly fifty feet at the time

(Continued on page 3)

BINGA BANK DIVIDEND CHECKS TURNED INTO NEW ACCOUNTS, WITH THE DOUGLASS NATIONAL BANK

The announcement last week that the Douglass National Bank was willing and prepared to accommodate the thousands of Binga Bank depositors who had received their first dividend from the Binga Bank by cashing their checks won a definite and fine response from those who had checks from the receiver of Binga Bank. According to officials of the Douglass National Bank many of the depositors of the Binga Bank in face of all the bank closings were at last willing to recognize the fact that The Douglass National Bank had withstood all the storms and was still serving the community, and should have the wholehearted support of the people of the southside.

The Douglass Bank officials were gratified to see that the willingness of the people to cooperate was still strong in face of their losses. This return of confidence is thought by many to be the forerunner of great things for the colored people in Chicago in that with this return of confidence in themselves and their institutions means that anything, no matter how large, can be attempted in spite of the current depression. Once again, said one prominent business man, the fact is borne home to us that if the people of the southside put their ten or twenty million dollars which is spread all over the city in the Douglass National Bank there would be an institution, which would then be capable of giving the district all the aid it now needs for its full and free commercial development. Such assistance is not now forthcoming from any other source.

Offers Convenience And Service
The fact that the Douglass Bank is located in the very heart of the colored district means that there is a natural convenience which no other bank offers. Combined with this fact is the fact that it is offered and owned by colored people who know the needs of the community and by experience should know the best manner in which to meet these needs. The confidence expressed by the former depositors of the Binga Bank who started new accounts at the Douglass expressed both willingness and a desire to reward service as well as merit while taking advantage of the convenience.

The continued indifference which many banks show colored depositors when approached for assistance apparently for no other reason than the matter of color may be another reason for this swing to the Douglass National, said one keen observer on commercial affairs and is perhaps just the beginning of a new awakening among a people who have been kicked about just once too often.